It has no superior and few equals. W. H. Chedic, Druggist.

COUGH! AND COUGH! The way the friends of silver are obliged to hedge in order to obtain any favorable action in Congress is pretty good evidence that the published report of there being a majority in both houses in favor of free coinage must have been a mistake.

FAIR AT CHURCH.

Great Excitement in San Francisco.

Arthur McEwen, in one of his letters to the Oakland Times says:

"The Nevada friends of the ex-Senator will be agreeably surprised to hear that since making San Francisco his permanent place of residence, Mr. Fair has become a prominent member of Grace Episcopal Church."

The above is a literal fact, strange though it may seem. A few Sunday's ago, when the editor of the APPEAL was in San Francisco, he observed the ex-Senator walking past the Palace Hotel dressed in a broad-cloth suit almost clerical in its cut and an air of piety about his general make up which was delightful to see.

He held a small prayer book in his hand, bound with rich purple velvet, and the Nevada boys noticed him at once.

"Say," said Chancellor Derby, "isn't that Jim Fair going to church?"

"Oh, yes," said Bob Keating, "that him; he's joined the Episcopal Church, and goes now quite regularly."

In a few moments the news that Fair was going to church spread around the corridors of the Palace, and there was great excitement. Some of them thought it was a joke, but Derby offered to bet each man $20 that it was so, and in no time a party was made up to go along and see the venerable ex-Senator say his prayers. Over a dozen Nevada men went along in rockaways.

There was Senator Foley, who "opposed the lottery on moral grounds."

Arthur McEwen, the old Sacramento Bee friend of Fair.

Sam Jones and Len Hamilton, who were persuaded to go to Grace Church although they were heading at the time for the First Presbyterian.

Christopher Powning and Allen Bragg, of Reno, who never before saw the inside of a sacred edifice.

James Rule, Fair's old mining partner, and several other well known sagebrushers.

They found the Senator in a front pew, and he responded in a rich, devotional voice to all the commandments, and intoned the Litany as well as anybody.

He handled his prayer book as well as if it were a miner's candlestick. He even joined in singing one of the chants, and when the Amen's came he rolled them out in fine style.

The boys were at first disposed to scoff, but when they heard the sacred music and saw how really in earnest the old fellow was, they all dropped on their knees and prayed with him.

When the plate was passed he lifted a $20 piece from his pocket and held it over the plate, dropping a quarter he had deftly concealed in his hand, while palming the twenty with the ease and grace of the only Heller.

"Slick work," murmured Rule, who was dead on to the trick.

"Wonder who the woman is?" remarked Keating as they filed out.

THE STOCK SALE.—Sweeney and Co's. stock sale, which comes off on the 15th, is already attracting wide attention, and will enable lovers of good horses to secure some excellent bargains. The Holstein ranch has agreed to offer some thoroughbred Holsteins for sale, but if anyone wishes to purchase half breed heifers they will be also offered, if parties wishing to purchase will notify the owner by leaving word at this office. No private family should be without a good milk cow, and those who do not care to pay thoroughbred prices can get half breeds nearly as good at very reasonable figures. Shaw of the hot springs, owns a Holstein half breed sired by Saratoga, that gave 18 quarts of milk a day when it was but a little over two years old. On common feed these cattle milk as well as thoroughbreds.

Catarrh Cured, health and sweet breath secured, by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents.

THE $40,000 SCHOOL HOUSE.

Opinion of a Taxpayer who Don't Like It.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—Since you have been fair enough to open your columns for the discussion of the question of issuing of bonds for the new school house, I take the liberty of writing on the subject. In the first place it is pretty generally conceded that the old school house is not an unsafe building as is claimed by the adherents of the new school house scheme. The city is now contemplating the the issuance of sewer bonds to the extent of $25,000. The city needs sewers a good deal more than a new school house and if the school bonds are issued, it will be hard to get sewer bonds as a $65,000 debt would be more than Carson could stagger under.

Three Types of Drama.

The border drama: "I'm only a rough fellow, Mary. I don't wear fine clothes and use fine words, but ever since your father brought you here to the mountains I've loved you Mary. I've none of the airs of that city chap, Mary, but if a faithful heart and a pair of ready hands—" "Take me, Bill. I've loved you all my life." (Throws herself in his arms.)

The society drama: "I've come to say good-by, Ma-bel. I'm going far away. I will trouble you any more. I'm going to leave friends, home, everything for your sake. I trust you will be happy without me, dearest—I—good-by—" Starts for the door.

"Harry!" He pauses. "Agnes!" They rush to each other. "Then you love me, after all?" "Why of course you silly boy. Couldn't you see I was only trying to make you jealous?" French drama:

"Without you life would be a blank. I could not live—I would kill myself. You are my all. Your presence has enthralled me. Say but one word, and I will throw myself at your feet. Say that blissful word which will make you mine." "But my husband?" "Oh, he doesn't count."—Detroit Tribune.

FISHING AT TAHOE.—Trout fishing is very good at the lake at the present time. Many very large trout are caught, weighing from twelve to fifteen pounds. The spawn trout are running up the creeks, and it is the intention of the Fish Commissioners to commence saving spawn early in April for the state hatchery, which is located near Tahoe City and is admirably arranged for propagating trout. It is the intention of the Commission this year to hatch three or four millions for distribution.

MINSTRELS.—The Cleveland-Haverly Minstrels, best of the larger burnt-cork organizations, opened to a large house last night. Their success was instantaneous. The specialties, music and dancing were both unique and artistic, and unlimited applause and laughter were the order of the evening. The company contains many well-known favorites. A troupe of twelve Oriental tumblers and jugglers proved to be a specially pleasing additional feature.—New York World.

DIED.
